CIRCUS IN THE COURT.

The Grey Brothers Kick Up a Riot.

Yesterday the Justice's Court was enlivened by a scene in which the Grey brothers figured.

Jake and Fred Grey were being tried on the charge of larceny. It was claimed that they had stolen sixteen dozen bottles from Avery's store and sold them to a junk dealer. Avery identified the bottles. It was hard to tell which of the two stole the bottles and the District Attorney offered to withdraw the charge against the one who would tell the truth. Fred wanted to take advantage of this offer and said that the bottles stolen from Avery were concealed in his house, and that when Avery identified the bottles he lied. Jake then broke in and called Fred a liar, and said he stole the bottles and Fred agreed to help sell them. Both defendants began abusing each other and the truth came out in large chunks. On this showing the Court fined both $100 or 50 days in jail.

They then began abusing the Court and the District Attorney and threatened to shoot the latter. Chrisler then grabbed them to take them out when they began to fight lustily, but the heavy weight of the court was too much for them and he took them struggling to jail.

The Hitchcock Murderers Narrowly Escaped Lynching.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—The accounts published this morning about the lynching of the murderers of the Hitchcocks near Santa Ana last night are incorrect. The murderers were hidden in Anaheim over night to escape the mob and brought to jail in this city this morning.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—A special from Anaheim to the Express says: Great excitement prevailed among the citizens when the Hitchcock murderers were brought into town. The prisoners were secretly placed in the cellar of a store and kept there till morning. A body of men broke into the jail during the night, but failed to find the murderers. The men were brought to Los Angeles this morning and placed in the County Jail.

Rene's Rape Friend.

The chances for the conviction of Henry Henderson, the colored man now on trial for rape on the person of a fourteen year old girl, the Gazette thinks are favorable. It says: "A well known citizen who never expresses himself forcibly unless he means business, was heard to say yesterday that 'if Henderson was acquitted he would never leave town alive.' As the speaker is a recognized leader, and has the reputation of being a boss knot tyer and a tar brush wielder, the remarks attributed to him are entitled to weight.

Of one thing the people can be reasonably certain, and that is, unless Henderson proves conclusively that he is innocent of the crime he is charged with, he will not escape punishment. If the legal jury does not do its duty, it is certain that a public jury will.

Self Protection.

The dry goods merchants of Carson City, in view of the fact that at any time they are liable to be charged with improper conduct to female children when alone in their stores, have determined to endeavor to ferret out the author of the malicious charges lately preferred against one of their number, and to that end will have a meeting to devise a plan for detecting the author of the scandal. As a matter of protection the idea is eminently proper, especially as nearly all of the resident merchants are heads of families, and as has lately been proven, are at the mercy of any designing persons who may have a grudge against them.—Tribune.

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

—In consequence of heavy slides in the Siskiyou Mountains, no through train from California reached Portland Thursday.

—It is stated at Albuquerque that not an animal has died on any of the New Mexico ranges on account of the severe cold.

—The Sacramento and Placerville Railroad will be open to Placerville within a month, and Placerville decided Friday night to celebrate.

—Mrs. George W. Huff of Livermore, who was bitten by a dog some time since and is declared to be suffering from hydrophobia, will probably die.

—Two of the three men who shot and nearly murdered George Hyce Preston, the lawyer, in Seattle, W. T., last week, have been arrested and lynching is probable.

—Dr. William H. Watkins, one of the oldest and most respected physicians of Portland, Or., dropped dead Friday night in that city while attending a prayer-meeting at the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—The San Diego Sun published an article Thursday saying that there have been 112 deaths in that city since the first of the month, and that there have been only forty-four deaths recorded at the Health Office as required by law.

—Rev. B. S. McLafferty, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tacoma, W. T., has entered suit for damages against the city for $25,000. He fell through an unprotected excavation in the sidewalk last October, and his been bed-ridden ever since.

—Cunningham, H. C. Wells, Frank A. Wells and Hiram Lee of Sohome, W. T., went hunting on Lummi Island, a large and uninhabited island on Puget Sound, were caught in the late fearful cold snap. Lee died from his injuries, and the remainder of the party had narrow escapes.

How Spectacles Are Made.

The pebble stone from which spectacles are made was found in two places on the globe, in Scotland and Brazil. The Scotch is not perfect, while the Brazilian is.

The Creator, who created everything for the human race, created the pebble. The nature of the pebble is this: It has a grain as has wood. In manufacturing the pebble for spectacles it is cut across the grain. In olden times it was quite easy to detect the difference between glass and pebble spectacles, while the glass was dark and the pebble clear, but in this age the manufacturers of glass have acquired such perfection in their art that they produce in glass such an imitation of the genuine pebble that it cannot be detected with the natural eye.

Prof. A. Pitton of London has invented a pebble tester, a little instrument with which a child can readily detect the difference between pebbles and melted glass. It is made like two buttons, with a hole in the middle of each. Inside is placed two colored glasses so no light can be seen by looking through the instruments. By putting between the buttons of the instrument a melted glass lens no light can be seen, but by placing between them a pebble, light will be seen! The difference is that pebbles have a grain while glass have not.

February Ore Product.

The daily product of the Comstock lode next month, says the Chronicle, will not fall far short of 1300 tons, divided as follows: Con. Cal. & Va., 700; Savage 130; Hale & Norcross, 50; Chollar, 70; Yellow Jacket 300; Alta 25. The bullion product from that amount of ore will average at least $25,000 daily, or three quarters of a million monthly.

The Harest of Combinations.

The delicacy of flavor with the efficacy of action has been attained in the famous California liquid of Figs. Its pleasant taste and beneficial effects have rendered it immensely popular. It cleanses the System, cures Costiveness, etc. For sale by George C. Thaxter, agent.

—Big snow storms are again ravaging the East.
